Discussion Over Erection of Monument to William Smith—Inventories Filed—Prizes for High School Pupils—Request of $1,200 in Trust to Grace Methodist Church

In an interesting address before the members and friends of the educational department of the Young Men's Christian association in Providence on Monday evening, ex-Gov. George H. Uter of Westerly told of the great advantages of an education and said that it is the man who makes the most of his opportunities who gains the goal. He said that with an education and a trade a man is master of something and is equipped for the battle in life with something that cannot be taken away from him.

The awards in the November contest of the School Arts Guild have just been announced, and the first prize goes to Anna Rothwell of Mt. St. Joseph Academy, Brighton, Mass. The prize winners from the Westerly schools are Louis Pozzi, Park avenue; Gardiner Hill, Pleasant street; Marion Blasco, Elm street; Lowell Webster, Pleasant street; Helen Whitford, Pleasant street.

These Westerly pupils received honorable mention: Marion Arthur Adams, Carol Blackler, William Geary, Gertrude Gaffney, Dorothy Greenwood, Thomas Hartley, Joseph Kelley, Annie Lawrence, Hazel Michael, David Kenneth Pierce, Frederick Randall, Lorena Randall, Margarette Riddell, Everell Simmons, Louis Smith, William Stanhope and Rose Terranova. The best Thanksgiving invitations were submitted from Westerly.

Judge Edward M. Burke held regular probate court in the Westerly probate court Tuesday afternoon. The will of Mary J. Pearce, who died December 13, 1908, was presented and admitted to probate. The Washington Trust Co. was confirmed as executor. The will bequeathed $1,200 in trust to Grace Methodist church. The personal estate is valued at $4,500. The executor's bond was fixed at $5,000 without surety. John T. Parker, Samuel A. Lord and E. E. Whipple were appointed appraisers.

The will of Susan P. York, who died December 8, 1908, was admitted to probate. The executor, York, was confirmed as executor. The personal estate is valued at $2,000. The executor's bond was fixed at $3,000 without surety. The appraisers appointed are Stephen W. Collins, Horace E. Burdick and Julius E. Young. Mary A. Smith, administratrix of the estate of William M. Smith, reported that the estate was insolvent and asked for the appointment of commissioners. The court decided that the estate was probably insolvent, but no commissioners were appointed as no claims had been disallowed. The estate will be able to pay over seventy per cent.

David L. McLaren, administrator of the estate of William M. Smith, reported that the estate is solvent, and asked that a reasonable sum be allowed by the court for the erection of a monument at the grave of the deceased. Clarence Roche, from the office of Judge John W. Sweeney, objected to appropriation for a monument, but did not oppose the erection of a small head stone.

Mr. McLaren testified that the estate was solvent. The debts against estate paid, and the cash on hand amounts to about $1,700. Witnesses: Charles H. Peterson.

ness was of opinion that from $450 to $500 was a proper sum for the monument, and as the children of Mr. Smith would like, but Mrs. Smith objected to any kind of monument. The one selected, Mr. Smith had worked upon and there was some sentiment in the matter. Mrs. Smith said that none of her money would go into a monument to her husband.

Administrator McLaren also petitioned on Thursday evening to install the mortgage debt as representing Mrs. Smith. Judge Burke decided that the note was a debt and the duty of the administrator was to pay all debts, the real estate is ample security for the debt. Reason why these mortgage cases are not more frequent in court is that mortgagors are satisfied with the security.

In regard to the monument, the law is plain, said Judge Burke. An administrator can erect a headstone, but a monument requires the approval of the court. The condition of the heirs is taken into consideration by the court in these matters. In this case, about one-third of the cash would be required for a monument, which would not seem excessive. However, as Judge Sweeney is attorney for Mrs. Smith, he has advised her to object to the petition. The condition of the heirs is taken into consideration by the court in these matters. In this case, about one-third of the cash would be required for a monument, which would not seem excessive. However, as Judge Sweeney is attorney for Mrs. Smith, he has advised her to object to the petition.

The inventories of the estates of Anna M. Gaffney, showing a value of $13,875.92, estate of Marie H. Pendleton, $2,257.16, estate of John Clark, $972.28, estate John Surber, $1,128.53, were received and ordered recorded. As Assistant Attorney General Cron desired to file authorities to show that the legacy to the will of Sarah C. Gallagher to Sarah Caroline Babcock should lapse, as the legatee died before the will was executed, Judge Burke reserved decision until next court day.

Local Laconics.
Now with a police fund available, there is liable to be prosecution for liquor law violation.

A number from Westerly attended the inaugural ceremonies of Governor Abraham J. Pottinger in Providence Tuesday.

Judge Elias B. Hinckley of the Stratford probate court held a session in Pawcatuck Tuesday for the accommodation of residents of that section of the town.

As most of the police work in Westerly is from Pierce street and vicinity, the request that a police officer patrol that section at night does not seem unreasonable.

There was a large attendance at the funeral of John E. Kenney at the church of the immaculate conception Tuesday morning. Rev. Peter McQuinn celebrating the mass of requiem.

Miss Josephine Stillman, formerly of Westerly, died Monday at her home in Hartford. In her 65th year. Miss Stillman formerly resided in Westerly and was the youngest daughter of Jonathan P. Stillman.

"What's good enough for Providence is good enough for Westerly," is what the town solicitor declared in town council meeting in justification of the laws relative to fees on public entertainments. Providence is said to be quite a place in comparison to Westerly.

WATERTOWN SELECTMEN
Begin New Year by Setting Tramps to Breaking Stones.

The announcement that the selectmen have decided to take steps to have the tramp nuisance abated at Watertown by having all lodgers split rocks, was received with joy. Watertown has been overrun with tramps this winter. The new edict went into effect Monday morning. After the tramps have been released from the lockup they will be taken to the hotel, where they will be obliged to split rocks for two or three hours. If any of the tramps refuse to work they will be charged with vagrancy. The rocks that the men split will be used to fill the mud holes about town. Watertown has never been beset with tramps in such large numbers as this year, and it is hoped by compelling the men to work that they will pass by.

Miss Ella M. Wood, a professional nurse, of Guilford, Conn., tells an interesting and convincing story of her experiences, in the following words: "During the years I have engaged in nursing, I have used Father John's Medicine in numerous cases by order of the attending physician, and as I have witnessed its beneficial results in lung, throat and all kindred disorders, felt justified in recommending it when asked a nurse's advice by friends. I consider Father John's Medicine a safe, reliable and honest medicine, beneficial to both old and young, when taken as directed for specified troubles. You are at liberty to affix my name and vocation to this testimony." (Signed) Ella M. Wood, nurse, Guilford, Conn.

Because of its pure and wholesome ingredients, which nourish and build up the body, Father John's Medicine so strengthens the system that it is able to ward off attacks of disease. Cures colds, coughs, throat and lung troubles without the use of alcohol or dangerous drugs—not a patent medicine.

GIRL'S AND CHILD'S APRON.
Paris Pattern No. 2710—All Sizes Allowed.

White Victoria lawn or thin cambric may be used for this pretty little apron. The fullness of the body portion is distributed in narrow tucks at the front and back and then attached to a yoke wide enough to cover the shoulders. The apron is gathered into straight cuffs at the material and the lower edge is finished with a decorative hem. Wide ends extend from the under-arm seams and lie in the back in a jaunty bow. The apron closes at the center-back with buttons and buttonholes. Or, if desired, these aprons may be developed in fine nainsook, batiste or Persian lawn, or for school wear heavy flannel or Indian-head cotton is much used.

The pattern is in five sizes—2 to 10 years. For a girl of 6 years the apron requires 3/4 yard of material 27 inches wide or 1/2 yard 36 inches wide. As illustrated, 5/8 yard of flouncing 6 1/2 inches wide for yoke.
Price of pattern, 1 cent.
